

HOUSE OF THE ART

The House of Art was never built to be sold. It was built to be loved. This is not merely a house. It is a home created by two artists who poured their love for the home and the neighborhood into its construction, its design, and every detail of what they intended to be their forever home. Priority number one: comfort. The details—and the art—tell their story. Now, a business opportunity has beckoned, and they are ready to turn over their beloved home to a new buyer who will call it their own. Is that you?
