

CASA CONFLUENCIA

Casa Confluencia is a distinctive architectural residence by renowned San Miguel de Allende architect Roberto Burillo, set within one of the most privileged corners of Etapa 1 at Las Ventanas de San Miguel. Here, the golf course meets the river, framed by a charming bridge and mature mesquite trees that create an extraordinary natural setting. This unique position not only allows the garden to visually extend toward the golf course, but also creates a natural buffer around the residence, enhancing its privacy, tranquility, and sense of seclusion. Designed by Roberto Burillo, the home expresses a sophisticated contemporary Mexican architecture rooted in character, craftsmanship, and a deep appreciation for the way people inhabit a space.
